

Hello There,

It concerns me that the FCC would limit what XM radio can broadcast. Having the local weather and Traffic for each city is great. I travel all around the county and I do not have time to find a local radio station that will tell the traffic report that is under standable by some one who does not live there. I never leave home without my XM. I have four units so far. I will not listen to local radio any more. I want to hear music or news but I do not want all the things that they are trying to sell me. I know that is how they make their money, but it is not anything I want to hear. I would rather put in CD than turn on the local radio. So whatever you do please mess with a good thing.

Best Regards,

William Crader
